Sign Up Now for October 5 WASHAA Annual Meeting!

This year's Annual Meeting will focus on Conscious Living & Dying: Health Advocacy at End of Life. Washington state is innovative in many ways related to end of life options. We are fortunate to have some of the leaders in this field joining WASHAA for a day of learning, inspiration and interaction. Confirmed speakers include:

- Brad S. Lichtenstein, ND BCB, in private practice at The Breath Space; Associate Professor, Bastyr University
- Barak Gaster, MD who co-authored the recent Dementia Directive in Washington State

- Laurie Riepe, LMHC, who will share how advocates and helpers can more deeply be a companion to those who are dying
- Our panel this year will focus on Demystifying End of Life Options and will include Stephanie Mehl, RN, MS who will address common myths of hospice care

As our interactive activity, we will be playing The Hello Game, a structured way to have a conversation about living, dying and what is most important. This is an excellent set of questions for patients, families or to be used by advocates in their practices.

Are you considering a job in health or patient advocacy and want to learn more about what the field is all about? Join advocates and other professionals who support advocates and patients for a peer-to-peer sharing event. This networking session will focus on creating an opportunity to develop an ongoing way to share cases and wisdom to support advocate work. Bring your questions, challenges and successes.
